SUBJ: Westside Manor Drainage – Work Session

The Westside Manor area experienced widespread flooding after Hurricane Irma. The County currently operates and maintains a stormwater pump station to control drainage in this area. There is an ongoing study entitled “Westside Manor Watershed Management Plan and Stormwater Pump Station Evaluation” that evaluated drainage and flood level of service of the watershed and developed flood mitigation alternatives.

On December 19, 2017, staff will present a work session regarding the Westside Manor drainage history, watershed management plan study findings, and potential FEMA funding. At the end of the presentation staff will provide a number of “Next Steps” on how staff plans to proceed with the water management plan and the pump station evaluation.

This presentation is for information only, and no action is being requested.
