Personal History: Metropolitan transportation is such a necessary function of any metropolitan city. As a native New Yorker and once frequent train rider I have gotten to see firsthand; from a riders perspective, the function of a well-orchestrated transportation system. Additionally through work with New York City Council District 34 Councilman Antonio Reynoso I was afforded the opportunity to sit on the Bushwick rezoning committee which looked at local train, bus, and bike routes in conjunctions with local zoning map to propose changes to old building codes and ordinances. I bring my experience and enthusiasm for my community as a meaningful addition to the MetroPlan Orlando Community Advisory Committee. Transit must be looked at from many angles as some parts of Orange County are more rural then others. I certainly offer an open mind and a spirit of collaborative effort to move the agenda of the advisory committee forward. I love my community and certainly intend to do all that I can to progress my Orange County!

Personal History: Over the past couple of year I have noticed that we have significant growth in areas of Orange County and I was worried about how that growth is being managed, tracked and monitored to ensure infrastructure and community services are being expanded to keep up with that growth. Over the past couple of years I have taken a more proactive position in wanting understand this better and do my part as a resident of Orange County to help steer decisions to help improve the quality of life while still driving growth and innovation. I am keenly interested in being more involved in the planning stages for future Orange County expansions and I think this would be a great opportunity to give me that insight as well as allow me to give back to the community. While I have a strong background in information technology, I have an even stronger background in large scale project management activities and understand the importance of managing expectations, dealing with stakeholders, managing multi-million dollar budgets all and managing risks. While I have never served on any kind of county related board, I am the current board president of our community HOA Member Advisory Committee. I look forward to the opportunity to be a part of our county government process and do my part to help bring my insights, knowledge, experience and passion to the mix.

Personal History: Since moving to East Orange County in 1995, I have been very active in trying to make our Union Park neighborhood a better place to live. I have volunteered with local churches and other groups to collect food and clothing for the homeless. I organized a school supply drive for Waterford Elementary. I have been talking to the County Commission and the Planning Council for years to advocate for sidewalks, roads, traffic lights, and better land use planning. I know our neighborhoods and its needs in depth and am familiar with our current Commissioners and am willing to serve my neighbors.
